Epibios is the single wine produced in the cellar of the Podere Colombaiolo. Its meaning, saved from wild boars, refers to the story of its birth: they were so greedy that used to graze among the vineyard, thwarting its growth.

Epibios is a red Tuscan IGT wine, created by assembling a three-kind selection of hand-gathered grapes: Sangiovese 40%, Cabernet Sauvignon 30%, Merlot 30%. These are cultivated according to the organic farming procedure, in the fields of the holding.

The wine is matured in the best barrels of French durmast, which are meant to help bring out the fruit aroma, with balance.

The colour looks like purplish veined, dark ruby red and the aroma reminds blackberries and fruits of the forest, in general.

Epibios has an intense and lasting taste, livened up by a pleasant tannin.

It is suggested to be savoured along with meat and cheese dishes, as well as after dinner ("meditation wine").
